King Memorial
MARTA Station

Developing mixed use, transit-oriented communities

- Market-rate & workforce housing
- 370+ transit trips created
- Senior housing

Better lit, tree-lined sidewalks
Street activating ground floor retail
New Oakland Cemetery Visitor’s Center

370+ transit trips created
The vision for the King Memorial station transit-oriented development is to create a residential focal point that compliments the MARTA train station as a transportation focal point and serves as a connection to and center of activity for the various neighborhoods that surround it. The desire is to create a community that people enjoy walking into, through, and by in order to help improve the flow of the neighborhood. The site would help to facilitate a connection between Grady Homes and Old Fourth Ward with Grant Park, Oakland Cemetery, and Capital Greenway.

The multifamily residential project will include 20% affordable senior housing. Some of the key features and amenities of the project will include an improved pedestrian experience to and from the MARTA station, well-lit, tree-lined sidewalks, added bicycle racks, an open-air, public-private micro plaza, several thousand square feet of street level retail, and a new potential home for the Oakland Cemetery Visitor Center.
